When: 10-16.02.2023

Where: Berlin, Genshagen

Deadline for application: December 31, 2022

An interdisciplinary residency program offering a series of lectures, workshops, and city/museum tours led by top scholars and practitioners from Ukraine, Germany and Poland.

Russia's full scale invasion on Ukraine has challenged the meaning of commonly shared values and revealed differences in their understanding, questioning what terms such as security, freedom, and solidarity mean for each of us. We endeavour to reveal, re-open and share three different practices and approaches toward decision making from three different political nations — Poland, Germany, Ukraine.

The project „The Nexus of DECISION 2023” has the ambition and courage to debate and compare the historical, political, philosophical, and spiritual paths of these three geopolitical regions - Ukraine, Poland and Germany - the challenges they are facing and the decisions they are taking from different perspectives in dealing with the massive violence, both individual and collective, that has come to the European continent. The aim of the programme is to build a space for dialogue and collaboration between young artists and scholars from Germany, Ukraine and Poland.

The „The Nexus of DECISION 2023” programme addresses the differences and similarities in the way we think about Russia's aggression against Ukraine. Decision is not only about political issues - why certain countries decide on a particular policy towards Russia and Ukraine - but first and foremost about the individual roots of how and why we think about Europe, what it is, what its values are, the importance of choosing an identity, deciding to act or not to act. „The Nexus of DECISION 2023” is a programme in which we will try to discover the reasons for the cultural and historical differences which today often determine the sources of thinking - about pacifism, peace, patriotism, solidarity, propaganda, fighting, surrender, correlations between individual and common responsibility, defending identity, etc.

Who can apply?

philosophers, historians, political scientists, visual/sound/music/interdisciplinary artists, writers/poets, researchers

Age: 20-45

From: Ukraine, Poland and Germany. Refugees from Ukraine are most welcome.

In February 2023 we will host an important week-long residency in the Genshagen Foundation. During the 6-day programme, participants will take part in seminars, workshops, ice-breaking games, city tours, curatorial museum guided tours and other activities to help us work through the topic.

Following this meeting participants will take part in a reporting event in the Pilecki Institute to share their experiences, thoughts, and to show intermediate results. They will then have the opportunity to apply for an upcoming scholar programme.

The program of the project „The Nexus of DECISION 2023“ will be focused on four thematic sections:

#1. Freedom / Peace:

This part will include seminars led by Polish, German and Ukrainian philosophers, historians and political scientists. Participants will jointly discuss texts dealing with the understanding of peace and freedom, and the reconceptualizing of peace;

2. Security / Fragility of the body:

This section will include workshops led by Ukrainian and Polish artists, curators and activists. Decision making on an individual level will be discussed.

The section will concentrate on contemporary understandings of freedom from the standpoint of tensions between political/national community and individual liberty, and on liberal perspectives regarding security and the military.

3. Decolonial practices from the Ukrainian perspective

This section will include both academic and practical/cultural texts to formulate an approach to understanding decolonial practices in Ukraine.

#4. Activists / Embodied practice

The fourth part is a workshop in Berlin museums with museologists and cultural animators, working on understanding the psychological and philosophical aspects of decision making in German society as articulated through art.
